

2017 Kuehne Chemicals Take Our Kids to Work Day-South Kearny

On Thursday, April 27, 2017 the Kuehne Chemical – South Kearny facility participated in the National “Take Our Kids to Work Day.” Some employees brought their sons and daughters to work so they could see, first hand, what their parents do and were able to experience what a day of work is like for their parent(s).

The children also experienced other input from their parent’s co-workers. They were able to observe many different careers, learning about occupations as varied as accountant, chemist, human resources, plant manager and many other professions.

The children received hard hats and a safety vest and were given information about how important safety is on the job site. Once the safety briefing was completed, they toured the plant and then their tour guides took them through the plant lab where they participated in a science experiment.

They also visited the accounting department where there we given the title of junior account coordinators were they participated in billing and posting cash.

The day ended with each child being given a certificate of completion. It was most definitely a very special day for our bright future stars that we hope they will always remember
