

Kuehne Chemical Company, Inc. has always maintained a philosophy of common support and cooperation with our peers in industry and with our stakeholders in the public sector. This is especially true where it concerns the men and women who place their lives at risk every day in order to keep us all safe and secure, that is, first responders with the police and fire departments. We're very proud of the fact that we participate heavily in TRANSCAER and send teams all over the country for first responder training. We're also proud to host emergency response training sessions in our facilities for local emergency management personnel. This year Kuehne learned that the Kearny Fire Department was seeking to fund additional vehicles and support equipment so we thought that a donation was in order to help them realize the addition of these important assets.
